To Whom It May Concern:

Every year it seems it s a scramble during the holidays to try to figure out what to do for our annual Christmas party. And it seems it s always left up to the same people, the social chairs ! This year was no different than the rest!

We ve done the expensive dinner out, the bowling party, etc. but we wanted to do something different this year. While surfing the net I discovered that there was a troupe in town who does Murder Mystery Theatres at parties, etc. I immediately e-mailed and subsequently heard back from the Death by Murder people. They were wonderful to work with and many said they enjoyed the evening immensely!

The most fun of the evening was the interaction from our group. We were all assigned characters and many of us even dressed the part. That made it even more fun!

I would recommend this company to anyone who is considering them. We had a ball!
